Website hosting services proposal

Federalist is a compliant web publishing service for open source static sites managed by the General Services Administration. Federalist is designed for content teams so they can build and launch websites for federal offices, commissions, policy programs, and targeted campaigns in a matter of days or weeks, instead of months. With Federalist taking care of the hosting and compliance, content teams can focus on the design and content knowing that your site will be fast, reliable, secure and ready for the traffic coming your way.

You can use our growing set of 508-compliant templates to as a starting place that you can easily customize, or bring your own design team and start from scratch with Jekyll or Hugo. Once your team is comfortable with working in markdown and with GitHub (we provide training!), you'll be able to easily edit and update your content without change orders or outside teams.
